Phone Phonies Kidnap DC Pair

A prominent Daly City businessman and his wife were kidnapped from their home at gunpoint by two men Monday morning and driven to his former place of business where he was forced to open the safe and hand over some $2,000 in cash.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has been called into the case involving San Francisco restaurateur Joseph Nucato and his wife.

Nucato is the former owner of Pip's drive-in restaurant in Daly City and Kerry's Restaurant on Army Street in San Francisco.

The couple was abducted shortly after 7:30 a.m. when a man posing as a telephone company repairman awakened them at their Southern Hills home and with the aid of a companion forced Nucato to drive to Kerry's and open the safe.

Police detective John Casey said it was apparent the gunmen did not know Nucato had sold his interest in Kerry's last July.

However, Nucato was able to open the safe because the new owners had not changed the combination, police said.

After forcing Nucato to drive them to the restaurant in his car, the gunmen stayed with Mrs. Nucato in the car, threatening to kill her unless the victim opened the safe and returned with the money.

Nucato complied with the instructions, and the couple was then driven to the corner of 25th and Capp streets and released unharmed.

The victim's car has not yet been recovered, Casey said.

Police in San Francisco and Daly City were able to piece together this story concerning the kidnapping.

Early Monday morning the Nucatos received a phone call purportedly from the telephone company "checking out" the phone lines in the area.

The caller informed the household that there had been complaints of breakdowns in the area.

Shortly after, a man wearing phone company clothing and carrying phone company tools appeared at the Nucato home and said he was checking the phone lines and instruments in the neighborhood.

After the door was opened the man brandished a gun and forced the couple to dress and accompany him to the San Francisco restaurant.

Ironically the couple was released in front of the Pacific Telephone maintenance building in the Mission District of San Francisco, several blocks from Kerry's restaurant.

The gunmen were described as white male adults. One of the suspects is between 25-30 years old, slim build with blond hair. His accomplice is 45-50 years old, wearing a dark suit with white shirt and black tie. Both are armed with automatic weapons, police said.

Casey and Officer Bob Jordan of Daly City were assigned to the case, along with San Francisco inspectors Gino Marionette and Paul Schneider.

Uncertainty Hangs Over Senate Bill

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-Daly City) says he's happy with passage in the Assembly of a major welfare reform measure.

Assembly Bill 18, Burton, Dem. San Francisco, which would enact the Citizens Retirement Income for Aged, Blind and Disabled program, now awaits final vote in the Senate.

"I was tremendously pleased yesterday when the Assembly passed this important legislation despite the 'no' votes of 19 Republican Assemblymen. However, I am distressed to learn that Republicans in the State Senate may have succeeded in stopping AB 18," Papan said.

"It is inconceivable to me that those opposed to AB 18 can expect the aged, blind and disabled to exist on $130 a month. In the wealthy state of California, which professes itself to be one of the most advanced, it is inexcusable for leaders to be so narrow-minded. The aged and disabled are unable to work in most instances. Our seniors have worked hard all their lives and to penalize the handicapped of California is nothing more than inhumanity," he said.

Leaders Deny Crisis at Holy Angels

Sister Pauline, principal of the Holy Angels School in Colma said today she wants to make the upcoming candy sale the most successful of any the parish has thus far held because "we need all the financial help we can get."

The school, like other Catholic institutions of learning, is faced with lack of government financial support for its programs.

There are fears that some programs, while perhaps not being curtailed completely will certainly suffer some cutbacks, it was learned.

But the school is not in desperate straits, according to Father Farrell, pastor of Holy Angel's parish.

Father Farrell echoed Sister Pauline's statement that all Catholic schools in the San Francisco Archdiocese are experiencing a financial tightening. "However, I can assure you there is no intention of closing the school."

Holy Angels School has an enrollment of some 350 students. The children will be out in force to make the sale a success, according to Sister Pauline.

"This (sale) is by the children and will be used to benefit the school," Sister Pauline said.

SMUHS Needs Aides

Several part-time teaching assistant positions are still open for the 1973-74 school year, according to Mrs. Shirley Rosenberg, coordinator of the San Mateo Union High School District's teaching assistant program.

Assistants work an average of 16 to 20 hours a week under the direction of teaching, counseling or administrative personnel. They carry out a variety of assignments aimed at providing more individual instruction for students.

Specially skilled teaching assistants are needed to help teach a guitar class, accompany a choral group and assist in a math class.

Greenwood Trial Opens

Frank L. Greenwood, fighting in court to win back his job as superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District, yesterday was characterized by a trustee as a man who didn't know what the district's curriculum was, and an administrator who performed tasks unilaterally without board consent.

The unprecedented trial began yesterday in Redwood City before Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn. Greenwood was fired in July.

Never before in San Mateo County has a school superintendent or city manager fought through the courts to regain his position after termination.

The trial, continued to Wednesday at 9 a.m. is making public comments and charges normally sacred under the cloaks of personnel matters in closed hearings.

But yesterday, nothing was secret, as Mrs. Dorothy Adams, chairwoman of the District's Board of Trustees, listed a variety of matters which she contends proved Greenwood failed to carry out policy of the board.

During opening statements, Greenwood's attorney, William Brown, said he expects the trial to show that "no cause existed" for Greenwood's termination, and that he intends to prove that the board of trustees "acted arbitrarily" and that the "so-called reasons for Greenwood's (dismissal) are extreme."

But yesterday, only Mrs. Adams testified, and she will resume the stand Wednesday.

William Johnston, attorney for the district, methodically took Mrs. Adams through the first six of 15 allegations against Greenwood of "dereliction of duty."

The first one, the attorney said, is the charge that Greenwood failed to adequately serve as chief administrator of the district.

As an example, Mrs. Adams charged that "bidding laws were not observed."

Johnston said the second allegation claims Greenwood failed to oversee the school district's operation.

"He failed to recommend the closing of a school until May one year," Mrs. Adams said, adding that Greenwood failed to provide cost analysis and other

D.C. Scavengers Ask Rate Hike

The Daly City Scavenger Company has asked the city council for a rate increase in the wake of its contract settlement with employees.

Last month the company signed a three-year contract with its employees providing for some 47 per cent in wage and fringe benefits.

Scavenger president Al Sereni said the new contract with Teamsters Local 350 will cost his company some $135,000 annually.

This, coupled with the purchase of new equipment needed to continue to provide first rate service to our customers, necessitates the rate increase, Sereni said.

Daly City now charges $2.20 monthly for garbage service. The scavengers are asking this be raised 60 cents to $2.80.

Councilman Bernard Lyczak asked for comparable costs for garbage collection in surrounding cities and was told that Daly

City is the lowest of at least four nearby cities. South San Francisco, Millbrae, Pacifica and San Mateo.

It was expected more data on this matter will be provided during a public hearing scheduled for October 9 at city hall.

Sereni also pointed out that while Daly City uses 40-gallon cans, other cities restrict household refuse containers to 30-gallon. Also, the city allows a two-cubic foot box of agricultural cuttings to be carted away at no extra cost.

Prior to the start of Monday's public study session, the council and city staff met with representatives of Mary's Help Hospital concerning expansion of that facility's administrative offices.

Mary's Help has outgrown its present building and needs more space for housing its administrative staff, the council was told by Pete Gentile, assistant hospital administrator.

The hospital recently purchased an adjoining church and school structure and is asking the city to approve use of this property for its new offices.

This would allow the staff of some 35 employees to move out of the main structure, providing space needed for medical treatment, Gentile said.

Asked if the hospital had filed an environmental impact report, city planner John Walker said his office had waived this requirement under "categorical exemption."

DC Police Arrest Two After Chase

Two Daly City men were arrested on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs following a high speed chase along the Junipero Serra Freeway Sunday night.

Officer John Cahill said he tried to stop a car carrying Thomas Wheaton, 19, 290 Oliver St., and Raymond Velezquez, 24, 83 Oriente St., on a traffic charge near the corner of Knowles Ave and I-280.

At short chase followed by Cahill was able to stop the vehicle at the Geneva Avenue off-ramp, according to police.

Police allegedly found some amphetamine pills inside the car and arrested both men on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs.

Wheaton also was booked on suspicion of reckless driving, police said.

'Dolphin' Alumni Plan a Reunion

Alumni of the San Francisco Sea Scout Ship Dolphin 129 are planning a testimonial and 40th year reunion in honor of the unit's only leader, C. W. Elberling.

Former members of the unit should write Dolphin Alumni, P.O. Box 469, South San Francisco 94080, to advise about the whereabouts of any former shipmates.

SSF Holds Up Appointments, Parking

South San Francisco City Councilman Terry Mirri last night held up a move to reappoint three planning commissioners, and Mayor Warren Steinkamp held up a move by Mirri to create a citizens committee to study parking abuses.

Acting City Manager Ed Alario reported to the council that one vacancy on the Planning Commission had to be filled — the one left by resignation of Don Gamma after he lost in his race for city council — and three planning commissioners' terms were coming due. All three commissioners — Nello Lazzari, Homer V. Haie and Eugene R. Mullin — have asked for reappointment to the four-year terms.

Frank Mammimi moved to reappoint all three, but Mirri noted that with the absence of William A. Borba on one of his rare vacations, it would be more proper to await for a full council for reappointment.

Steinkamp, siding with Mammimi, objected that the three commissioners already had served their first terms, but he went along with awaiting Borba's return before acting. Oct. 10 was the date set for interviewing candidates for the planning vacancy.

MIRRI, who had first proposed an investigation into the parking abuse problem two weeks ago, reported that the problem was more widespread than previously supposed. A citizens' committee definitely is called for, he declared, so that the city may obtain public input into the problem.

One woman he cited complained of five contractors' trucks parked constantly in front of her home. Other homeowners suffer from having their parking taken up by nearby apartment dwellers.

Alice Curley, 729 Baden Ave., expressed fear that she would be unable to continue parking her three vehicles in front of her home, which has no garage.

OTHER comments from the audience on the parking problem, however, backed up Mirri's viewpoint. One woman thought that parking in alleys was a hardship on residents.

Steinkamp asked that city staff study the problems and Mirri asked again about a citizens' committee. Steinkamp replied that he may consider one at the next meeting. Alario said it would take him 30 to 45 days to gather necessary material on the problem, including other cities' ordinances.

MAMMIMI raised his current pet project — a shelter in City Hall Park so that retired men could continue to play cards and socialize during inclement weather. Alario reported finding plans for a shelter drawn up several years ago, but at a cost of $25,000. He promised a report from the Recreation Dept. at the next meeting.

A resident of McDonnell Drive expressed shock that the city had discontinued a program that saved children's lives, after the federal "seed money" had run out — the Police Department's bicycle safety program. Steinkamp asked Alario to get up a report on what had happened.

Dr. Nava On Atlantis

Noted Latin American historian Dr. Julian Nava will explore the pros and cons of "Atlantis, The Lost Continent" at Skyline College at 8 p.m. Sept. 29 in the main theater.

According to contemporary explorers, if Atlantis once spanned the entire Atlantic Ocean only to sink suddenly one day, its role in history must have been a significant one. Today attempts are being made to document its existence.

Possibly best known for his works on Mexican Americans and as past president of the Los Angeles school board, Dr. Nava also is an authority in the field of Spanish and Latin American history.

A BUFFALO FEAST was put on at John DeMarco's 23 Club in Brisbane Sunday to raise funds for several local civic and youth groups. Pictured are two of the giant buffalo carcasses encased and on specially-built spits. They and two other buffaloes fed an estimated 3600 people.

3600 Feast on Buffalo

"The meat of yesterday will be the meat of tomorrow," Brisbane restaurateur John DeMarco predicted on Monday.

Sunday DeMarco put on one of the biggest and most successful bar-b-ques ever witnessed in the North County — he served up more than 3,376 pounds of buffalo to between 3500-3600 hungry persons.

The buffaloes were bought four months ago in Zamora, Calif., where a rancher raises more than 1,000 head of these shaggy beasts that once roamed the western plains providing food for Indians and pioneers alike.

But there is only a scattering of buffalo herds left in the country and to kill them a special permit is needed from the government.

DeMarco said a Red Bluff butcher, under close government supervision, dressed out the four buffalo spitted and broiled in Brisbane Sunday.

An estimated two tons of oak wood was used to cook the buffalo over a 25-hour period under the watchful eye of DeMarco and his partly voluntary staff.

The event was sponsored by the Brisbane Rod and Gun Club, Federated Women's Club of Brisbane, Brisbane Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, and the Brisbane 4-H Club.

Did he plan any more gigantic bar-b-ques in the future?

"Wait 'til next month when we spit over a 1000 chickens. That will be the biggest chicken bar-b-que anyone around here has ever seen," DeMarco ventured.

D.C. Council Plan Study

A large crowd argued the merits of Daly City's proposed new interim general plan Tuesday night before it was continued to the next meeting by the city council.

Many of the crowd of some 90 persons said they felt the plan, by City Planner John Walker, wasn't detailed enough and was too brief. Walker, however, indicated that he would be more specific later, since this updating of the 1968 general plan will have more elements added and is simply a big enough job now it must be done in stages.

In other business the council accepted the completed Fire Station 7 at Geilert Boulevard and Wembley Drive and approved a low bid from Wesco Construction Co. for building the new Serramonte Library nearby on Wembley. Wesco's low bid was $434,000, the project to be paid for from the general fund.

The council also decided to information she said was necessary to make a decision.

The third allegation is that Greenwood failed to adequately serve as secretary and adviser to the Board.

Mrs. Adams said the board didn't receive a copy of the publication budget until the night of the board meeting.

The fourth allegation claims failure on Greenwood's part to act as the board's representative to meet and confer with teacher councils.

A fifth allegation claims Greenwood failed to properly supervise the total instruction of the district.

To this point, Mrs. Adams repeated her testimony that Greenwood once sent a letter to committee that programs in the district were in such disorder that he could not determine if principals were doing a good job.

Johnston said the sixth allegation is that Greenwood failed to carry out policies and directives of the trustees. Mrs. Adams is expected to testify to that when the trial resumes.

Mrs. Adams also disclosed a list of 24 "concerns" she had of Greenwood in 1971 which she testified were "never pursued."

Among those allegations:

—Greenwood used district stationery for personal letters.

—He sent a letter to board members "trying to excuse past failures by saying he yielded to the board majority. He outlined once in July of 1971 how he would have to oppose the board majority for the good of the community."

—He called a special meeting in July of 1971 after the board chairman said there wouldn't be one.

—He "failed to carry out board policy (from February to August, 1971) that he provide monthly financial reports showing the status of the district in relationship to the adopted budget."

—He failed to carry out board policy of asking district attorney opinions in writing, or bringing back the decision in writing."

Keith Breon, former deputy district attorney who often counseled the district, is now its acting superintendent.

Devil's Slide Bypass Many Years Away?

The traffic flow on Edgewood Road bordering Redwood City and San Carlos has been increasing by 300 to 400 vehicles a day since opening of the final link of Junipero Serra Freeway last week.

This information, along with a report that chances for a quick start on the Devil's Slide bypass appear dismal, and other details of the county's transit status, was imparted to the County Board of Supervisors Thursday.

The board had requested a briefing to bring it up to date on all transportation matters in the county.

Deputy County Engineer Robert Sans reported the traffic jump along Edgewood, a road which the board has discussed widening in the past. However, it was decided several months ago to postpone any action until it could be determined what effect completion of Junipero Serra would have on the road.

Sans said that the latest traffic count, on Wednesday, showed 7,426 vehicles used the road between the freeway and Alameda de las Pulgas. The number, he stated, was about a 2,000-vehicle increase since the day before the final freeway link was opened.

Sans reported that the number of vehicles using Edgewood Wednesday is more than one-half the volume the engineer's office feels Edgewood can handle before it will be necessary to improve and widen the road. Ten per cent of the daily flow is at the peak morning and evening traffic hours, he said.

The engineer's office will continue to survey the traffic load and keep the board informed, Sans stated.

The news was not so good from William Zeoni, assistant division engineer for the State Division of Highways.

He informed the board that it now appears it will be 1979 or 1980 before construction can start on the proposed Devil's Slide bypass on Cabrillo Highway.

"The same emergency exists today," complained Supervisor Gerald F. Day.

The state had received bids for the project late last year when a court suit was filed by the Sierra Club challenging the routing and width of the proposed bypass, and a federal judge ordered filing of an environmental impact statement before construction could begin.

As a result, the construction has lost its priority. County Engineer S.H. Cantwell reported that it will take two or three years to distribute the EIS to necessary state and federal agencies.

"We'll just have to get back in line," Cantwell commented.

He noted that District IV of the Division of Highways has always tried to push projects for the county as we would like them to be pushed, but sometimes there's interference."

Zeoni indicated it might not hurt for the county to do some more pushing.

"The squeaking wheels get the grease," he stated.

In other matters involving the Division of Highways, Zeoni reported:

— Construction of Freeway 380 to San Francisco International Airport is underway, and construction of the link to Pacifica should be started by 1978.

— The next link of the Bayshore Freeway-Nineteenth Ave-

— project, should be started in 1977, with a third and final project to be added later, with no date has been set for construction. It was indicated sev-— Widening of Bayshore to eight lanes from Whipple Avenue to the Santa Clara County line is scheduled for 1977.

— The EIS for extension of Nineteenth Avenue Freeway from Ralston Avenue to the coast has been completed, but no date has been set for construction. It was indicated several months ago that the link is probably 10 years away.

Project to establish a local bus transit system in the county, reported that the county's voters will probably be asked either in the primary or general election next year to form a bus transit

Development Project is continuing to study previously reported alternatives so that an optimum mass transit system can eventually be proposed to the voters.

Alternatives being studied include extension of BART into the construction in the county of a separate transit system compatible with BART.

Sheriff Says Police Costs Can Be Reduced

Sheriff John R. McDonald Jr., Daly City still operates a city jail. "And for more efficiency and uniformity, there's the Police Academy at College of San Mateo. Other areas are the crime lab, the sheriff department's helicopter patrol, canine units, the organized crime unit and the county-wide narcotics task force."

McDonald has ideas for more possible centralization. "One of the biggest riffs in the county is burglary. City limits signs mean nothing to burglars, and some smaller cities have part-time men on burglary investigation. We need to consider the need to consolidate a countrywide burglary team. "Additionally, we're starting to become recipients of bodies being dumped from other counties. We could consider a countywide crime against persons team."

McDonald also foresees the need for a central communications system and a central records system.

"If we don't start showing we're trying to cut costs the public is going to start turning against us again," McDonald predicted.

As an example of economic savings, the sheriff echoed the governor's committee on a recommendation to "get everybody in the county to agree to mass purchasing. Presently, each city in the county goes out and buys its own police cars separately. Together, buying 200 cars, we could save money. The same is true with gasoline, guns and equipment."

One of the sheriff's special dreams is the day when each police car in the county is equipped with computers allowing officers to seek information within seconds on criminal suspects, past records, license plate identification and related items.

Also, he would like to see installed in all police cars radios or systems which would allow officers to talk with one another across city lines.

The most recent known study on police costs in San Mateo County was completed in 1971 by Sheriff's Capt. Herbert E. Elvander.

Based on 1970-71 police budgets, Elvander determined the cost for police service in San Mateo County then, including police related cost of the Sheriff, was $13,596,682.

At that time, police costs per capita in the individual jurisdictions varied from $17.18 in Millbrae to $45.06 in Brisbane.

Elvander reported.

Others at that time: San Mateo $24.93, South San Francisco

$27.22, Hillsborough $31.89, Belmont $19.40, Foster City $37.28.

The 1970 San Mateo County Grand Jury urged merger of the county's police departments into a single law enforcement agency, contending that such a move could save local taxpayers "thousands, if not millions of dollars."

Jurors noted considerable duplication of services could be eliminated through consolidation.

One supervisor told The Times last year that a study towards that goal never materialized "because there was no enthusiasm on behalf of anyone for consolidation."

Salvation Army Asks For Clothes

Many thousands of children are going back to school in clothes their mothers have shopped for in the Thrift Stores operated by The Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center of San Francisco. The center's ten stores are located from Redwood City to Petaluma.

There are other thousands of children who grew out of their old clothes during the summer and the Social Service Center has asked families to donate outgrown clothing to the center, which operates a complete work and rehabilitation program for alcoholic and handicapped people. The Thrift Stores of the center pay for the program.

Donations of children's clothing may be made by phoning for The Salvation Army call truck.

Kermit Anderson, supervisor of the stores, said they need shoes, as well as shirts, trousers, dresses, sweaters, jackets and other children's clothes. The stores sell a serviceable pair of children's shoes for as little as 50 to 75 cents, dresses for 35 to 50 cents, a pair of pants for $1 and a sweater for as little as $1.

Local phone numbers for Salvation Army call trucks are: South San Francisco, 583-7460; San Bruno, 583-3589; San Mateo, 341-5871; Redwood City, 358-5132; and San Francisco, 647-7000.

DC Dedicates Newly Renovated Library

Dedication ceremonies were Saturday afternoon for the recently renovated Bayshore Branch Library on Geneva Avenue in Daly City.

The building, formerly site of the Bayshore Sanitation District offices, was renovated at a cost of some $52,500.

It will contain 14,000 books, along with special collections such as periodicals, phonograph records, pamphlets, prints of great art, a children's library and reference books.

Board of Library Trustees President Richard L. Silver welcomed the dignitaries from city government and local civic leaders.

Acceptance of the facility was made by mayor Anthony A. Giammona, with dedicatory remarks by Virginia Tierney, president of the Friends of the Library.

Others attending the dedication and open house included councilmen Victor Kyriakis, Bernard J. "Bud" Lycett, McRobert L. Stewart and Paul M. Hupf.

Also City Clerk Mrs. Anna Ohlendorf, city manager David R. Rowe, City Treasurer Anthony A. Zidick and City Librarian Samuel C. Chandler.

THE PAGES of history turned again for the Bayshore Branch of the Daly City library system Saturday, with dedication of the newly remodeled facility. Doing the symbolic honors was Bayshore librarian Juliana Cheng, surrounded by, left to right, Richard L. Silver, library board of trustees president; Daly City Councilman McRobert Stewart; Councilman Bernard Lycett; Councilman Victor Kyriakis; City librarian Sam Chandler, and Daly City Mayor Anthony Giammona. Children's Drama Class Available

The Daly City Recreation Department is offering a fall-winter children's drama workshop for boys and girls 10 to 14 years of age.

Under the instruction of Ron Wells, children will learn basic stage movement, oral interpretation, voice projection, make-up and stage crafts. The cast and crew will prepare a full-length production during the eight-week course.

The class will be Saturdays, Oct. 13 - Dec. 8 (No class Nov. 24) at Thomas Edison School from 1 - 4 p.m. Interested students must attend an audition Saturday, Oct. 6 at the school from 1 - 4 p.m. Twelve to 15 boys and girls will be selected to participate in the workshop.

There is a $3 materials fee for the workshop, and parents of selected students must complete and sign an official registration form.

Papan Bill Waits Signing

A measure affecting two giants in the business world — the savings and loan and the insurance industries — awaits Gov. Ronald Reagan's signature. Under AB 640, authored by Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (Dem.-Daly City), a borrower may insist that his insurance information be kept confidential by a savings and loan association and not be used for purposes of insurance solicitation.

In addition, AB 640 provides that a borrower, if he so wishes, can provide insurance policies and insurance information regarding his property to his lender when obtaining a loan.

"This bill should go a long way toward ending the confusion and misunderstanding which often results between the lender, the borrower and the latter's insurance agent," Papan said. "AB 640 ensures that there be fair competition between lending associations and private insurance companies and, most importantly, ensures the borrower's right to privacy of personal information."

The measure was passed in the Senate last Wednesday night and approved Thursday, as amended, in the Assembly.

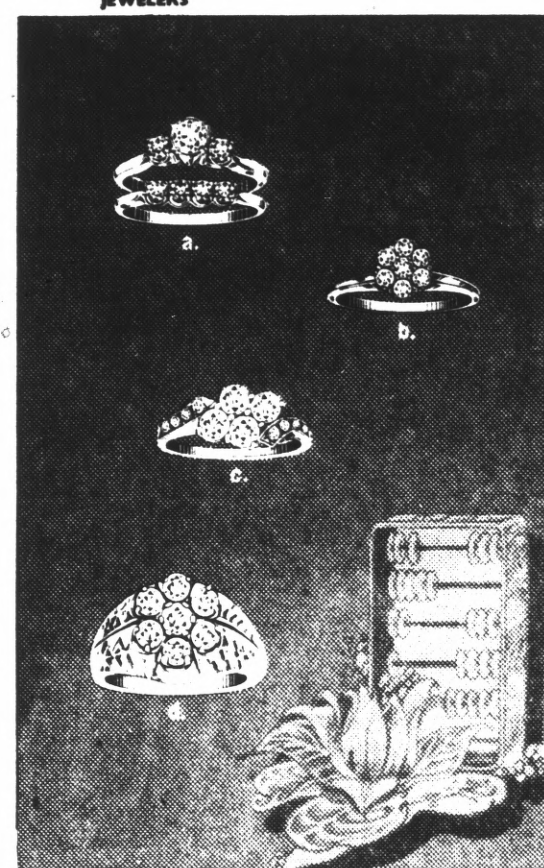

The worship services for Rosh Hashanah — New Year (Hebrew Year 5734) — all of which will be conducted by Rabbi Sanford E. Rosen and Cantor Herbert I. Epstein assisted by the adult choir, junior choir and instrumental group and Mr. S. Leslie Grow, organist, will include evening service, Wednesday, Sept. 26, 8 p.m. and Thursday, Sept. 27 morning service for Adults and young adults at 10:30 a.m.; afternoon meditation for young adults, 2 p.m.; and children's service at 9 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 27th.

Admission for all adult services is by ticket only. No tickets are required for the children's service. Members of the armed forces and college students may obtain courtesy tickets from the Temple office, 1700 Alameda de las Pulgas, San Mateo, no later than Monday, Sept. 24.

A baby sitting service will be available for children between the ages of 2 and 11 on Rosh Hashanah morning; however, registration must be made at least 48 hours prior.

The Temple's Board of Trustees and auxiliaries will host an Oneg Yom Tov social hour on the patio immediately following the morning service.

The Pacifica Branch of American Association of University Women has invited Marlo Faulkner of San Mateo to speak at its tea at The Castle Sept. 23. Nancy (Mrs. Roger) Nixon has been AAUW's liaison to the steering committee, and Marlo Faulkner is festival co-ordinator.

Described as seeing the world through children's eyes, the program begins at 10 a.m. with a group of short films depicting the child's world. Festival participants may choose two of five discussion groups ranging from The Child and Parent to the Child in the adult. Discussions

Marine McLean, membership chairman, said that although invitations have been sent to college women in the area, no eligible woman need wait for a special letter and may call her at 359-0424 for directions to The Castle in Sharp Park.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

I recently played tennis at the San Geronimo Swim and Tennis Club and found that in addition to being good tennis players, the ladies were excellent cooks and generous recipe sharers. Here are some of the goodies served at a buffet at the club.

PAT'S GREEN CHILI BAKE

- 6 slices bread, buttered
- 2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
- 2 cups grated Monterey Jack cheese
- 1 cup chopped green chilis
- 6 eggs, beaten
- 2 cups milk
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1/4 teaspoon each dry mustard and oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt

Butter the six slices bread, place, buttered side down, in 9-by-13-inch baking dish. Top with drained green chilis and the two cups each grated Cheddar and Monterey jack cheese. Combine the six beaten eggs, two cups milk, salt and pepper, one-eighth teaspoon dry mustard and oregano and fourth teaspoon garlic salt and pour over top. Cover and refrigerate for four (4) hours. Bake in 325-degree oven for 50 minutes. Serves 6.

MEL'S RICE SALAD

- 1 cup raw rice
- 3 Tablespoons vinegar
- 6 Tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon tarragon
- 1 can green peas
- 1/2 cup sliced green onions
- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- Tomatoes and cucumber

Cook the one cup rice and drain. To the hot rice add the three tablespoons vinegar, six tablespoons olive oil, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and one teaspoon tarragon. Mix well and chill. When cold add the drained peas, half cup green onions, one cup chopped green pepper. Blend and return to refrigerator. When ready to serve add chopped tomatoes and cucumber.

BIRGETTA'S SWEDISH TOSCA CAKE

- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cube butter
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1/4 cup milk

First, melt the half cube butter in small pan, add the fourth teaspoon almond extract and fourth cup milk. Cool.

Beat the two eggs well, add the three-fourths cup sugar and beat again. Add the three-fourths cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and half teaspoon salt alternately to creamed mixture with the cooled butter and milk. Blend well and pour into greased and floured 8-by-8 or 9-by-9-inch baking pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for 25 minutes.

While cake is baking prepare the topping in the following manner:

TOPPING

- 1/2 cube butter
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 Tablespoon milk
- 1 Tablespoon flour
- 1 cup slivered blanched almonds

Melt the half cube butter in small pan, add the fourth cup sugar, one tablespoon each milk and flour and one cup almonds. Bring to boil, boil two minutes and set aside.

This morning the North Peninsula Auxiliary for the Florence Crittenton Services will have their first meeting of the fall, according to word coming in from Mrs. Richard McClain, president of the unit.

MRS. MCCLAIN reports that today's gathering is a very important business session and hopefully there will be 100 per cent attendance when she calls the meeting to order at 10:30 a.m. in the South San Francisco Orange Memorial library.

High on the agenda will be the "County Fair" being presented the end of this month.

MRS. ARTHUR COLMAN, chairman of the fair committee, has announced that tickets, costing $2.50 are already on sale for the funfest which will open with a wine tasting and conclude with fair booths selling everything from "Alpha to Zed." Mrs. Edward Macklin, 1 Village Lane, Colma, is the reservations chairman and she will be happy to provide tickets and information to those interested in attending the luncheon and fair September 29.

IF YOU HAVE a sweet tooth be on the lookout for members of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades classes of Holy Angels Parish school because they want to sell you some candy!

Mrs. Nemer Gonzales is sale chairman and she indicates that the funds raised by the students will be used to purchase new classroom desks.

THE BOYS AND GIRLS will ring doorbells within the parish area for the six more days with the hope of being able to refurbish several classrooms. If you haven't been visited yet by one of the salespeople call Mrs. Gonzales, 992-3591, or the school office, 755-0220, for information or to arrange to purchase some of the chocolates.

HENRY NIEBOLT, director of the Daly City Community Concert band, wants to remind all adult musicians interested in playing with the group that the first band rehearsal will be tomorrow evening.

The band is sponsored by the Jefferson Adult School and persons planning to participate should register with the school office, 755-1162, before the session at Serramonte High School tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Rehearsals are held each Thursday from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. with refreshments served during an intermission.

MRS. E. R. SHORT, Mrs. Frank Falkoni, Mrs. J. J. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Dario Baciocco, will head up the committee sponsoring the Mary's Help Hospital Guild Day at Serramonte Shopping Center.

This is the third time the guild has participated in this program aimed at publicizing the guild and the services it and the hospital offer.

The Oct. 4 event also will feature booths and displays representing the Heart Association, Cancer Association, Red Cross, Visiting Nurses Association and other community health services.

Tickets for the luncheon and fashion show to be held the same day in the Ranch Inn are on sale in limited numbers.

HAWAII CALLS and the Pacifica Fifty Plus Club responds with enthusiasm!

Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the intrepid group of travelers, reports that a group of senior citizens will trek via United Airlines to the islands Oct. 11. The tour will return home Oct. 22, in plenty of time for the club's traditional Halloween festivities.

There is no limit to the number of members and guests who can take advantage of the tour privileges and anyone wanting more information about times and costs should contact Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg as soon as possible.

PLANS FOR ENTERTAINING delegates to the Alpha Iota Sorority's Pacific Western Association convocation were discussed during the regular business session of the local chapter last week.

President Janice McCraney outlined the chapter's responsibilities as co-host of the gathering, to be at the San Francisco Hotel in San Francisco Oct. 13 and 14.

MRS. YVONNE BURK, former president of the San Francisco alumnae chapter, was named chairman of the committee to work with the Oakland alumnae chapter on the entertainment, housing and greeting of incoming delegates.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LEHMAN were host to a large group of friends at a farewell dinner honoring John Anderson, the former chief librarian of the city of San Francisco, and his family.

North Peninsula residents wishing the Anderson family Godspeed were Dr. and Mrs. Troy Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. "Jay" Guerrero, Mr. and Mrs. Norman MacKinnon and Mr. and Mrs. John Massen.

The Andersons now are making their home in Tucson, Ariz. while son Douglas continues his studies at the University of California and daughter Betsy, a former employee of a Serramonte store, will continue her studies at the University of Washington.

SSF Parents Have Dance

The Performing Arts Parents Club of El Camino High School in South San Francisco has scheduled a community-wide benefit dance for Oct. 27 at the Machinists Hall in Burlingame.

The group, which supports activities of the 225-student Performing Arts Department at El Camino will have its first meeting of the school year Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the choral room of the Little Theater at El Camino.

Dance tickets will be distributed to members for sale at the opening meeting, and films of the trip to Europe by the 1970 Show Troupe from El Camino will be shown. Projects and physical needs of the department and the parents club also will be discussed.

The El Camino Jazz Band is scheduled to play for the benefit dance, which will feature a midnight buffet and a series of door prizes.

Officers of the parents club for the 1973-74 school year were elected last spring. Re-elected president and vice president respectively were Don Curlee and Mrs. Walter Yasinitzky. Mrs. Howard Hinman is secretary and Vernon Ware is treasurer.

Book Fair Soon At D.C. Library

A large collection of widely diversified used books will be offered for sale at the Friends of the Daly City Library annual fall Used Book Fair Sept. 22 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Westlake Shopping Center mall. The merchandise also will include originally designed hand-crafted bookmarks and used records and sheet music.

Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach, book fair chairman, and Mrs. Helen Nerbovig, pricing chairman, say the book collection includes many children's books ranging in price from five to 50 cents.

An assortment of adult fiction, both modern and nostalgic, will be available.

Non-fiction books for reference and home study this year include unusual categories such as aeronautics, weather and naval air, others ranging from hot rod magazines for those interested in cars to foreign language books for the linguistically inclined.

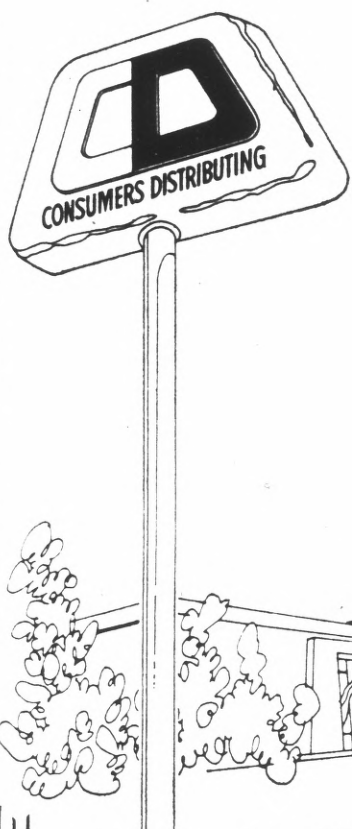

Under chairmanship of Mrs. Thomas Jovick, a silent auction will be from noon to 2 p.m. Books chosen for this event include an autographed autobiography of Sophie Tucker, Arabic-English dictionaries and large encyclopedia dictionaries. Librarian Robert Kearney has aided in the selection of auction books.

Boy Scout Troop 369, under leadership of Raymond Boasso, will aid in setting up the fair. Last minute donations of used books, records or sheet music may be left in depositories at each of the three ranch public libraries.

Captain Charles Newest Nick Gust Restaurant

Nick Gust is a man with a knack for solving problems. When he served as the mayor of Pacifica, he distinguished himself in the field of politics greater than his predecessors, and as one of that community's leading restaurateurs, he has proven that the name Gust is synonymous with all the qualities one seeks in cuisine dining.

One of Nick's more recent problems was an overflow of business. His Moonraker restaurant, a gourmet house located in picturesque Rockaway Beach offering a superb view of the rugged but beautiful Pacific Ocean, was so popular on weekends that he was forced to turn away a great quantity of business. Some of that business went into the former Papagayo Room (situated directly beneath the Moonraker), but a lot of it went away seeking seafood specialties elsewhere.

To overcome this, Nick decided to shut the Mexican food restaurant and completely renovate it. Now a new restaurant is scheduled to open Wednesday, September 19, called Captain Charles, named after Nick Gust's father, who originally set into motion the restaurant empire Nick now navigates.

Captain Charles' restaurant, according to Nick, will serve 90 per cent seafood specialties. The decor is similar to that of the Moonraker. That is, a nautical theme prevails, from fish tanks to old block and tackles.

Captain Charles is having a "shakedown cruise" next week, with the official grand opening scheduled for later in the month or early October.

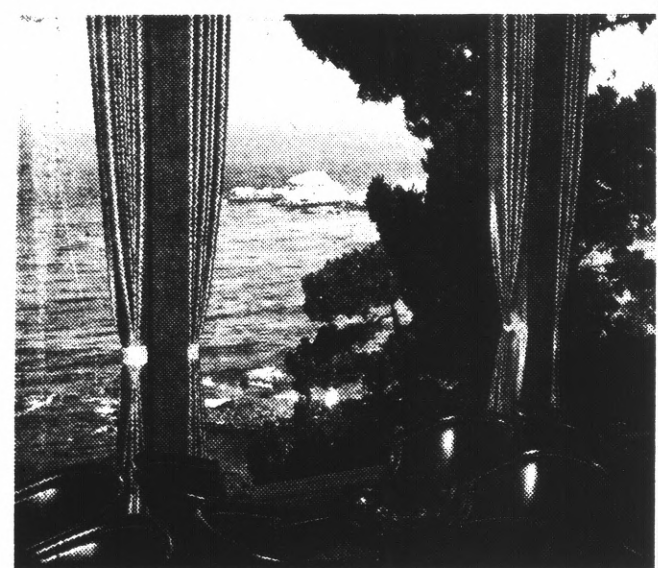

Meanwhile, Joseph Molloch, general manager of the Moonraker, reports that business remains brisk and overflowing at the Moonraker, while Nick's, the family-dining restaurant just across the street, is still a popular place for not only lunches and dinners but Sunday morning breakfasts.

The menu at Nick's has always had a wide appeal, designed to please the appetite of young and old alike.

So, in a few days, Nick Gust will once again have three restaurants in operation. How does he feel about this new enterprise, Captain Charles?

"I want it to establish new trends in seafood dining. I want people from far and near to say that it is the best of its kind. I want Captain Charles to have a reputation like no other seafood house."

If anyone can live up to his pledge, it is Nick Gust, a restaurateur who continues to amaze us with his energy and his trend setting ideas.

HIGHLANDS INN — One of the many spectacular views afforded from the spacious cocktail lounge of the Carmel resort. The Highlands Inn has always been a favorite site for Holiday occasions, and weddings are especially popular here.

George 'n' Teddy Return Whiskey Hill One Week

George 'n' Teddy, two fabulous entertainers who have performed at just about every major niter in the Bay Area, opened Tuesday night at Pete Brallier's Whiskey Hill, in downtown Burlingame, for a one-week-only stint. This is their first local return engagement since their smash tour of the East Coast, including a lengthy stay in Miami Beach. The recent addition of Barbecued Chicken to Diamond Lil's menu has already established it as a top seller here. Another big favorite is Lil's Ribs and Chicken Platter. And that includes "all you can eat" tossed salad from the Saladbar. New Directions, an excellent group with a variety of dance sounds, entertain in the lounge of Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Restaurant, in San Mateo. If you like to dance, the wild Stainless Steel dance floor is guaranteed to inspire hidden dance talents. There's nothing like it in any other niter in the Bay Area. The Stanislaus Importers held a three-day seminar at the Cannery's Ben Jonson restaurant, where they conducted classes for people who have art, gift shops in Northern California. Besides attending the class, the 80 students enjoyed a luncheon at the Ben Jonson.

Sal Campagna Is Family Host

A family reunion is being celebrated at the home of Sal Campagna, owner of the House of Troy restaurant in San Carlos. His wife's relations from all parts of the United States are visiting the Peninsula and it's been Sal's pleasure to see that they are entertained. He was able to get four tickets to the Sonny and Cher Show at the Circle Star Theater for his mother-in-law (Mrs. Mildred Bennett), and everyone wanted to go, including the children. Would you believe eleven house guests! Fall months rear their head and, with the season, comes a menu to match at the Down Under on Taylor. A variety of well chosen dishes spark both luncheon and dinner business appealing to the cross-section of San Francisco's dining out set. All this plus easy parking with ten parking facilities within walking distance of the front door. You can bank on the Down Under's menu matching the Four Seasons. Don Dianda has combined the classic dishes of France and Italy with the choicest American dishes to make Doros in San Francisco a Holiday award winner for many years. Doros also serves the finest wines and liquors of the world.

Romano Prepares Pizza To Taste Perfection

When it comes to preparing pizzas, not many have the expertise of Enrico Romano, owner and operator of Romano's Italian Restaurant, located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Whether you order the small, medium or large size pizza, Romano knows how to cover it with a heaping of goodies — from anchovies to olives to salami to pepperoni. So next time you drop into the place, just ask Romano to fix your favorite. He's the man who can do it. Park Avenue Tours offers "Entertainment the Nevada Way" to those who take advantage of their transportation opportunities. Fun seekers driving to Lake Tahoe, South Shore, receive a substantial refund. Overnights are also available with a generous bonus refund. In addition, Park Avenue Tours features a daily eight-hour "Turn-around" schedule from the Bay Area. Traditional Mexican dishes such as Chicken or Beef Tostada (served with beans, rice and garni) and Chile Relleno are expertly prepared at Tios Mexican Restaurant, and the portions are huge. If you've never eaten Menudo (tripe soup — real Mexican soup) be sure to order it here. There is a child's plate, and anything may be ordered "to go."

FINOCCHIO'S LEAD DANCER—Estuardo Mora is one of the featured entertainers in the San Francisco Finocchio's "Eve'ttes Follies." Yep, he's a female impersonator.

Leif-Motif Decor Also Scotty Campbell's Feature

The leif-motif throughout the dining areas at Scotty Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City is Scottish. Even the waitresses are costumed in checkered kilts, knee socks and tartans that represent the various clans. However, Mary Lou Fox, co-owner hostess, has made her collection of antiques an interesting part of the restaurant's decor. Specialties of the house include such dishes as Pepper Steak (one of the chef's choicest dishes) and the Gourmet Platter for Two. Bay Meadows Development Plan Readied

A development plan for the exercise track at Bay Meadows may be forthcoming soon, the San Mateo Planning Commission was told last week.

Robert Thompson, attorney for the California Jockey Club which operates the racing complex, said "the leaning of our study committee is toward an office center complex with some minor commercial area to service it."

More than a year ago, the jockey club submitted plans for a shopping center on the 40 acres in question. The plan was withdrawn last November because of uncertainty over obtaining a high-fashion store for the proposed complex.

Thompson said eventual use of the property is a "complex matter" with "lots of problems."

"We're working on it," he added, "and should have something definite soon."

The club, he explained, has no plans to abandon the race track itself, only the exercise facility in the southeast corner of the property.

The disclosure came as the commission continued its study of eventual use of the entire Bay Meadows Planning Area which includes the property occupied by the county fairgrounds. This study has been going on since January.

A new element has entered the picture because of a recent state ruling. This requires that zoning codes and general plans be in conformance by January 1.

The area now is zoned, generally, for industrial use. The General Plan, however, suggests that it could, if racing ever is terminated, be used for an executive park or high-rise residential complex.

Commissioner Sharon A. Rogers said that it's time for the planners to make a "clear statement" of possible eventual use of the property and end its "fence-straddling."

There have been suggestions that the land be obtained for a park, but Commissioner Edward J. Reilly pointed out that the city has "no intention" of buying it and developing it for that purpose.

He urged that the planning staff prepare zonings that reflect the current usage in order to meet the state's conformance deadline.

"I don't think it should be arbitrarily changed," he said. "The status quo, apparently, is not objectionable to anyone."

Thompson, the jockey club attorney, agreed with him.

Commissioners said that the county, since it has an interest in the fairgrounds property, should be invited to participate in the commission's discussions.

The Bay Meadows study was continued to Oct. 8. The commission also scheduled a study meeting for Sept. 26 to consider discrepancies between the Zoning Code and General Plan.

Probable or potential inconsistencies exist in 13 of the city's 35 planning areas, according to a table submitted by City Planner Pete Katzberger.

Belmont Cub Pack Wins Award

OAKLAND — A Belmont Cub Scout Pack that collected so much glass for recycling that it was able to finance a weekend trip to Yosemite Park for 98 Scouts today won a national award of $250 for its 1973 environmental activities.

Cub Scout Pack 304 of Belmont was one of 14 Boy and Girl Scout units to win a total of $2,600 for outstanding anti-litter, beautification and recycling projects in the third annual awards program for Scout units throughout the country sponsored by Owens-Illinois, Inc. A total of more than 20,000 Scouts participated.

"Pack 304 raised the funds for its trip to Yosemite with a series of glass drives in the city of Belmont," Harry Lucky, coordinator of the environmental program for Owens-Illinois' Oakland glass container plant, said.

"As a part of its 1973 ecology program, the Cub Scout Pack cleaned up the area surrounding Water Dog Lake in Belmont," Lucky said. "Pack 304 also won, for the second straight year, a blue ribbon for its ecology booth at the San Mateo District Scout-O-Rama."

Raymond M. Duran is cubmaster of Pack 304.

The Belmont troop was among eight Scout units winning top national awards of $250 each in the Owens-Illinois environmental awards program. Special awards of $100 each went to Scouts in six other cities for multi-troop activities.

The award winners were chosen from among 74 local winners in 44 cities in which Owens-Illinois plants sponsored the program in cooperation with Boy and Girl Scout councils.

"The award-winning projects ranged from the collection of 62 tons of paper and 11 tons of glass by 17 ten-year-old Junior Girl Scouts in Waxahatchie, Texas, to the removal of litter from landing sites along a Michigan river by 13 blind Explorer Scouts in Lansing, Michigan," Mr. Lucky said.

Columbus, Ohio, Cub Scout Pack 570 won a $250 award for the second straight year," he added. "After using last year's prize money to help blind children, the Columbus pack repeated as a national winner by collecting 15,485 pounds of paper and 1,875 pounds of glass, planting trees, and distributing litter bags to motorists."

The annual competition for Boy and Girl Scout units sponsored by Owens-Illinois is designed to encourage and promote efforts of the youth groups to Keep America Beautiful, Lucky said. All entries had to be based on anti-litter, beautification or recycling programs conducted by the participating Scout units between April 2 and June 4.

Tigers' Bender Shines

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Workhorse wouldn't exactly be a fitting description for Terra Nova's Bill Bender. Even they get a rest once in a while.

Bender was, to put it mildly, an extremely busy boy Friday night, but it wasn't in vain as the Tigers nipped visiting Capuchino 7-6 on their fog-shrouded Pacifica field in the non-league opener for both teams.

Bender, until he was finally forced out of the game midway through the final period with a temporary injury, carried the ball 20 times for 130 yards and played superbly on defense at safety as well.

With Cap leading 6-0 in the third quarter, Mustang quarterback Ralph Costanzo went for six from the TN 35. Bender foiled the attempt with an interception in his end zone.

On the next play, Bender shot over right guard with a handoff and sped 42 yards to the Cap 38. Three plays later, Bender took it in from the 32 on a similar play, sprung by Reg Zertuche's block. Paul Racanelli kicked the conversion.

Costanzo tried to rally the 'Tang offense, but some clutch TN defensive play and Cap's own mistakes kept the Tigers in front. Costanzo, the MPL's top passer last year, was only 7-21 for 62 yards.

Linebacker Zertuche and back Steve Kenning each picked off Costanzo passes in the late going and a Racanelli punt once was downed on the Cap one-yard line.

The 'Tangs, a prime contender in the MPL, operated without three first string backs, but were still able to move the ball on the ground, but inconsistently. Steve McLeod had 70 yards on 24 carries and little Bob Warfield went 12-59.

Rod Cunningham scored Cap's first half TD on a three-yard pass from Costanzo. Cunningham had set up the score when he partially blocked a punt deep in TN territory.

What Trades?

There has been a lot of talk recently about the trading of Juan Marichal and Willie McCovey. But it won't be easy to trade either of them — at least, not without getting comparable return — for several reasons, none of which have anything to do with their ability.

FIRST, EXAMINE WHY (aside from high salaries, which will be dealt with in a few paragraphs) the Giants would want to trade them. Marichal, after all, seems destined to win 12 games and end up with a decent ERA this year, despite his usual illnesses, a period of time in the bullpen and some tough losses. How many pitchers in baseball this year will win 12 games with an ERA of perhaps 3.25? Check it out. Only a vast minority of them.

McCovey, if he stays reasonably hot and doesn't get hurt, should end up hitting about .270 (only about ten points below his lifetime BA), has a real chance of hitting 30 homers and probably will drive in 75-80 runs. All this and he may not even play 120 games. How many hitters in baseball, playing almost all the games, would be able to match this record? You're right. Very few.

IN OTHER WORDS, while Marichal and McCovey are no longer superstars they are still valuable commodities.

Now, ask yourself who would want two high salaries but admittedly fading stars who might not be able to play regularly any more over a full season? Certainly not a team building. A team fighting for a pennant, then. A team looking for a quick if expensive solution. Well, the Giants are fighting for a pennant. Why would they trade to another team what they probably will need themselves?

BUT, YOU SAY, they could get pronosing youngsters from a team desperate for a quick pennant. The answer, of course, is that Horace Stoneham is also desperate for a pennant and what team in the majors has more promising youngsters than the Giants? Promising your planers are always nice to have for that big future in the sky, but not when you're fighting for fan attention in a competition war, not when you're losing money — now!

The fates of Marichal and McCovey for next year all may come down to how well the Giants do this year, both artistically and financially, which should be one in the same. If they can go down to the wire for the pennant, take their division and get into the playoffs, their attendance will pick up. It might even pick up enough for Stoneham to be able to afford a pair of $100,000 part-time players.

If the Giants fall, Stoneham may have to trade Marichal and McCovey for whatever he can get (remember Sam McDowell?) in order to remain solvent.

THE RECENT FCC PROBE of sports announcers who blatantly distort game reports to make the team for which they announce look better, has brought out the fact that most announcers are paid by the owners of the teams, which shouldn't have startled any fan; and also the fact that one of the relatively few broadcasting teams not paid by the owner is that of the San Francisco Giants. Lon Simmons and Bill Thompson are paid by KSFO.

The latter fact didn't surprise us because to the best of our knowledge we were the first sports writer to bring that fact forward. It was right at about one of the times many people were accusing the team of the late Russ Hodges, Simmons and Thompson of being nothing but cheerleaders for Horace Stoneham. It was early 1969 and we were doing a piece on The Trio, as it was called, for San Francisco Magazine. We asked Hodges who they worked for and he told us.

HODGES DID ADMIT that they were "shills" for the Giants in the sense that they wanted to attract listeners, because a lot of listeners draw sponsors and sponsors mean the games are kept on the air, and as long as The Trio was on the air they were making a darned good living.

Hodges, Simmons and Thompson also admitted rooting for the Giants, but, they pointed out, that isn't illegal, unethical, immoral or unusual, especially if rooting didn't interfere with their objective reporting of the game — which they didn't think was so, an opinion with which we agreed then and still do.

"WE WOULDN'T BE NORMAL IF we didn't root for them," Hodges opined. "We live and die with the team for the better part of every year."

As we pointed out then, so detached was the team of announcers from the Giant front office that they didn't even receive complimentary tickets.

HODGES DID ADMIT to being loyal to Stoneham and that he didn't like to upset him.

As we noted in the magazine piece at that time, "Listeners with discerning ears can determine whether Stoneham is out of range of KSFO's beam, or at the park watching the game. When he's not listening, the crew, especially if the Giants are winning, has its fun. When Stoneham is tuned in they're more serious. Stoneham figures levity and the serious business of trying to win pennants don't mix."

Hodges went on to say "When Charley Harney was alive we had another thing to be careful about. We had to watch what we said about the wind or Charley would complain to Stoneham and Horace would be phoning the booth asking us to play down the wind, for Charley's sake."

AND THAT, SWORE HODGES, was the only pressure they ever had from Stoneham. Eat your heart out, Monte.

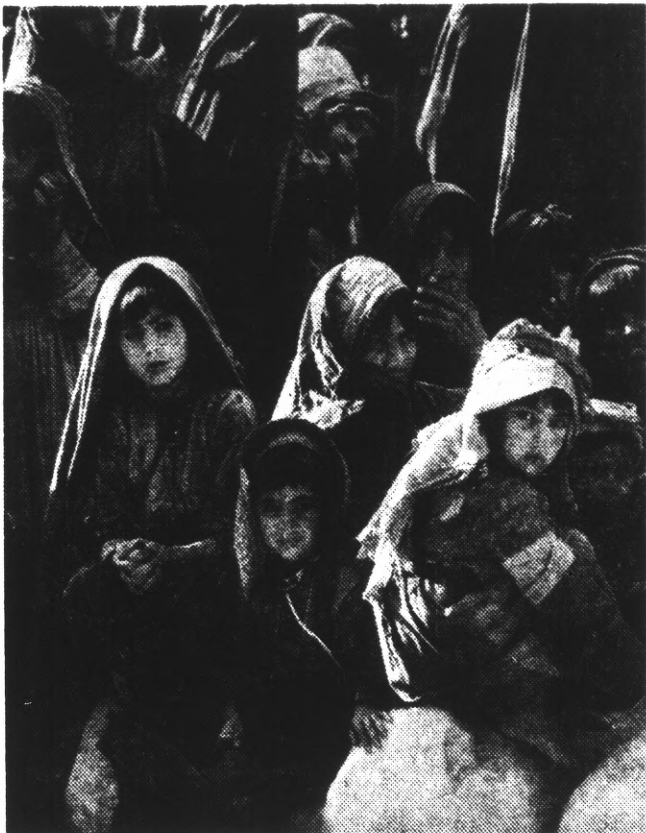

LOCAL ITEM: — F. Ward O'Connell, 41, a graduate of the University of Miami and internationally successful coach, has been named head aquatics coach at San Francisco State University, replacing Mike Garibaldi, who will hold a similar position at Hartnell J.C. in Salinas.

O'CONNELL COMES from Yale, where he has been head diving coach, assistant swimming coach and head water polo coach for seven years. In the past three years his water polo team posted a 47-1 record and three eastern collegiate championships.

O'Connell also was diving coach for the United States Pan American Games team in 1967 and 1971 and head diving coach for the U.S. team in the World University Games in 1967. Though born in Connecticut and raised in Florida, O'Connell already is acquainted with the Bay Area because he was aquatics coach at Washington High in Fremont in 1961 and 1962 and held the same post at Sunnyvale High from '62-'67. While in this area he also was diving coach for the Santa Clara Swim Club, producing 12 national AAU champs.

While at the University of Miami, after a four-year stint in the Navy, O'Connell was a Golden Gloves featherweight boxing champion, but re-channeled his athletic energies to swimming when the boxing program was phased out. He became a varsity diver and was graduated with a bachelor of education degree in 1958.

Afghanistan's Great Poverty

HUNGER and despair are the common denominators in far-off Afghanistan, where Ron Dizon and Diane Krystosek of Daly City did a tour of duty with the Peace Corps. Dizon took most of these photos, except the one of himself at top right, herding a small group of cattle across a dry field. At top left, a crowd of small children and their mothers huddle against the drought-producing sun. At bottom left is a standard street scene, a young Afghan child hungry and in rags. But the old man, bottom right, is in the same condition. The two Peace Corps workers said only a "trickle of help" came to these people.

By FRANK LA PIERRE

Two Peace Corps workers are back in Daly City after spending the past year and a half battling the pangs of hunger and the specter of death in Afghanistan — scene of one of the worst droughts of this century.

RON DIZON, a free-lance photographer of 740 Higate Street, Daly City, and Diane Krystosek, a student at Skyline College, were assigned to help in the distribution of food, materials and medical aid during "Operation Help."

Both returned enchanted with the people of that nation but somewhat disillusioned with what they termed "The trickle of help" now being meted out to the starving, once-proud race of some 25,000 farmers, nomads and shepherds.

Dizon said "Operation Help" which ended late last year, distributed tons of wheat, blankets, flour, vegetable oils and medical supplies. Aid came from many nations when word of the Afghans' plight was learned.

MISS KRYSTOSEK and Dizon were among the first to volunteer to travel to Afghanistan and "do whatever we were asked to do."

"There is a sadness in Afghanistan," Dizon once wrote, "one that is not told by the people, but accepted as the Will of God."

AFGHANISTAN is a melting pot of culture, a pot that has not been fully uncovered to the 20th century, according to Dizon.

Surrounded by Iran, Russia and Pakistan, it is situated on the steps of Central Asia awaiting the arrival of the modern world.

STARTING SOME three years ago the world first heard of the terrible famine sweeping the nation and began pouring what aid they could into the tiny country.

Unfortunately, by the time the supplies had been channeled through various agencies, only a fraction of the original amount reached the people that needed it most, Dizon charged.

"Afghanistan is a country where survival is a constant trial and where for many of the people in the central region of the country, subsistence living is a way of life," Dizon, who chronicled his adventure with a camera, said.

DIZON WORKED in one of the hardest-hit areas of Af-

Top State

California is the most desirable state in the union in which to live, says the Midwest Research Institute.

Let the propagandists from Oregon and Idaho take note and draw in their bumper stickers about Californians going home. Oregon rates down the line as fifth and Idaho but 27th.

All 50 states and the District of Columbia were graded on such factors as marriage and divorce rates, crime rates, accident and auto death rates, income, education, employment, weather and the number of parks, libraries, orchestras, doctors, dentists and lawyers. This grading led to interesting conclusions.

The overall quality of life among the states does not differ significantly, yet residents of the far west and of New England seem to enjoy a better life than people of the Midwest and the Mid-Atlantic states. People of the Southern states have the lowest quality of life in the country.

In the far west, California, Colorado, Washington, Oregon, Wyoming, Utah and Montana are rated among the ten best states in the nation. Arizona is 11th; Hawaii is 15th; Nevada 19th; New Mexico 24th; Alaska 25th; and Idaho 27th.

On the other hand the ten states with lowest ratings are Tennessee, Virginia, Louisiana, North Carolina, Kentucky, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina. Of the New England states, Connecticut rates third in the list of all the states, Massachusetts rates seventh and Rhode Island tenth. At 12th, New York rates higher than any Middle-Atlantic state while Minnesota at 13th is the highest of the Midwest states.

The Midwest Research Institute wrote that the study shows "People have come to realize that quality of life is not necessarily dependent on material wealth."

This led the institute's senior economist, Ben-Chieh Liu, to report that personal incomes reflect the quality of life only in the states that ranked lowest in the list, for in these states the residents receive the lowest personal incomes in the country.

The institute found little difference in the performance and efficiency of state and local governments and little difference in the welfare and services that are offered. It did, however, find a wide range of differences in such things as education, personal health and economic status.

The Midwest Research Institute is a non-profit organization supported by industry and the U.S. government. It was founded in 1944 and is acclaimed widely for its work in a number of fields of research.

The results of its surveys are published in technical journals and reports and its own publication, readers will find this journal and most of the reports in the academic libraries in the San Francisco Bay Area.

A synopsis of the quality of life report can be found in the "National Enquirer" for Sept. 16 on page four. The results of its survey are published in technical journals and reports and in its own publication, readers "Midwest Research Institute Quarterly Report." Readers will find this journal and most of the reports in the academic libraries in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Football Haves And Have Nots

By JERRY LITTELL
Post Correspondent

Depth may be an overriding issue with both the South San Francisco Warriors and the Crestmoor Falcons in this year's football wars — but in slightly different measures.

The Warriors have it — the Falcons desperately need it.

That much was proven in the 42-13 South City victory over Crestmoor Saturday night at Clifford Field, although it really wasn't a test for Ray DeJong's crew, expected at least to battle for the North Peninsula League championship again this year.

Crestmoor just didn't have the experience to stay with the Warriors.

Crestmoor's offensive line protection and ground-game block- ing was lacking as time and again it crumpled (much like the dry-rotting stands people sit on apprehensively in at Clifford) and were it not for a brilliant, and at times desperate, performance by Falcon quarterback Chuck Chavez the game might have been closer to the Alabama-California mismatch.

Chavez, throwing very quickly, completed 11 of 12 passes for 124 yards including a 45-yard touchdown pass to Steve Maxoutopolis but the Warrior defense, led by Tausiata Totaona, throttled the Crestmoor running game to a minus 40 yards in 23 tries.

Nine Warrior runners hit plus yardage before the game ended as each back DeJong dug down to find seemed as competent as the other. But running backs

Jack McKeon, Everett Herrera

and Jack Tintali were the cream of the crop and no mat-

Westmoor Profits by Penalty

By JERRY LITTELL
Post Correspondent

That usually-evil striped handkerchief penalty flag when tossed against you, often means ter which starts or carries the ball the Warriors apparently won't suffer.

Herrera scored three of the first Warrior scores on runs of one, five and three yards from his fullback spot while McKeon fumbled and stumbled on the same play before returning a Crestmoor punt 56 spectacular yards for another score. Tintali, a senior making his first varsity appearance, got game honors with 82 yards in 11 carries.

Under a constant threat of decapitation by Totaona, Chavez hit quick sideline patterns, one the Warriors were willing to concede but, except for an occasional burst by halfback Bill White, Crestmoor could not get anything going on the ground. Chavez was sacked seven times and eventually lost 65 yards on the ground.

woes and miseries for a football team, but the reverse was true for Westmoor High's Rams in yesterday's successful 1973 non-league opener.

Playground Recreation To Start

The fall playground recreation program sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, started yesterday.

School playgrounds and City Parks are staffed by college-age recreation leaders from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and holidays. The program is designed for children seven years and older.

Serramonte Loses in Final 30 Seconds

Serramonte High went far ahead to open its football season Saturday, and carried off one of its best efforts ever before losing to Montgomery of Santa Rosa in the final 8 seconds, 20-13.

Serramonte held a 6-0 half-time lead after senior fullback Frank Baston scored from seven yards out.

Montgomery took a one-point lead in the third stanza but the Regents came back, taking the 13-7 lead on Ricky Greene's five-yard plunge and Baston's conversion.

The Regents, who had played solid defense all along, held Montgomery out until the final minute and a half — but it was a sad minute and a half, as Montgomery put two scores on the board, the last just before the final gun.

The Regent stop corps, anchored by linebackers Reggie Richmond and Howie Friedman and tackle Walbur Matsu, snared four interceptions and recovered four fumbles.

Bernie Sanchez was the rushing leader for Serramonte, picking up 63 yards in four carries. The Regents piled up 166 yards on the ground. Receiver Robin Greene caught five of Jesse Torres' aeriels for 63 yards.

Short Films

Three short films on masters of music — Pablo Casals, Vivaldi and Stravinsky — will be shown at Skyline College in San Bruno at 8 p.m. Sept. 20 in the main theater.

Admission fee is $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

PAL Colts Baseball Champions

The PAL Colts were crowned baseball champions in the recently concluded Daly City Recreation Division's seventh grade boys baseball league. Outstanding pitching and hitting coupled with a superb defense were the key factors in the Colts' success.

The Colts have been together four years having started in the 4th grade league. The team also has participated in basketball as the PAL Warriors during the same period.

Members have a handsome collection of ribbons and trophies having placed lower than second place only twice in their four year career as a team in both sports. However, the most gratifying award the boys have earned is their friendship and respect for each other which has resulted in a keen sense of teamwork.

Members of the championship team are: Randy Perez, Tony Cooper, Alva Warner, Jim Poulos, Brian Jones, Bill Kennaugh, Dave Yobannon, Russ Pino-maki, Eric Matsuda, Lou Tinsley, Jeff Dobson, Julius Van Kesteren, Darryl Jones and Gary Howard.

Coaching chores are handled by Bill Kennaugh, Bill Matsuda and John Gerleman.

The team is now looking forward to the 8th grade Basketball League and have their sights set on bringing home another blue ribbon.

Herrerias Is Colt Cage Coach Again

Rene Herrerias, the Silver Fox of North Peninsula League basketball coaches, has been re-named El Camino's varsity cage coach for the upcoming season just four months after his resignation.

The move was forced when newly-hired mentor Jim Brovelli decided to accept a southern California college coaching position a week before school was to begin.

That left the El Camino administration on the short end so, with no experienced coaches available, Herrerias was prevailed upon to make it "one more year," after which he is expected to retire from coaching. Again.

SSF Boys To Compete

Kevin Gregins, 13, and Timmy Ranson, 12, both of South San Francisco, will compete against San Jose Police Sept. 21 in San Francisco for the Bay Area Police Athletic League track crown.

They will make accuracy throws in competition.

The boys, who have been competing all summer against PAL clubs from other cities, are assured of winning ten-speed bikes. If they win Sept. 21 they will go to Disneyland.

Kevin is a student at Alta Loma Junior High, Timmy at Parkway Junior High.

Cards Squeak By Cubs 4-3

In the final playoff game of the late Summer Boys sixth grade baseball league, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, the PAL Cardinals squeaked by the OLPH Cubs 4-3.

Lew Valor, Rich Baxley and Brian Barron each pitched two strong innings for the victorious Cardinals. Tito Hernandez, David Maxion and Willie Doherty were the hitting stars in the victory.

Bake a 'Mad Apple' for Vegetable Treat

Native to the tropics, the eggplant has a white or glossy purple color, depending on the variety. The white is more prevalent in Europe, while the dark purple is more common in this country and is obtainable throughout the year.

This "mad apple," as it became known through the years, is grown mostly in the central San Joaquin Valley as a minor commodity during the summer. Harvest occurs in the Imperial Valley and Mexico during the winter months, keeping eggplant in season year-round.

Quality is excellent with the clear, dark glossy color covering the entire surface. Free from blemishes and streaking, size and maturity are tops this year.

Good quality eggplant should be firm, heavy in relation to size with uniform dark, rich, purple color. The cap should look fresh and green. A good buying size of this pear-shaped vegetable is from three to six inches in diameter.

Unless refrigerated, eggplant will lose its moisture and become soft and shriveled. Perhaps the best advice is to use the vegetable as soon as possible.

One half cup of cooked eggplant, not including what it's cooked in or with, contains only 19 calories and small amounts of various vitamins and minerals.

Recipes with eggplant vary from stuffing, sauteing, baking, broiling and scalloping to topping with creamed mushrooms.

"Asknotasquash," or the Indian squash translation for "eaten raw," is the name "squash" was derived from, thanks to the Europeans. The Pilgrims immediately adopted squash and started boiling and baking it.

Today countless varieties of squash are available year-round. However, later in October squash is expected to reach peak harvest in the Modesto area. Zucchini or Italian squash has already reached peak production from the warm San Joaquin Valley. The diminishing supply of Italian squash will consequently bring prices up for this particular variety.

The soft-shelled squashes — Zucchini, yellow crookneck, yellow straightneck and scallop — are always available, although the supply is at its peak from June through August. From mid-December through March Mexico supplies markets with these varieties.

Acorn and butternut squash are marketed all year, butternut from late summer through winter. The Hubbard is seen most commonly in December, but the season runs from October through March.

Overall quality is good to excellent. Warm weather has prompted the proper maturity of the squash. There was no sizeable insect, rot or mechanical damage upon harvest.

The soft-shelled varieties are best when small to medium in size. The rind should be tender. Avoid any that show soft or watery areas. These varieties are quite perishable. At home use them at once or refrigerate them in a plastic bag for a day or two at the most.

When selecting pre-cut banana or Hubbard squash look for crisp, clean flesh, and reject any that appear bruised and discolored or show other signs of age.

All varieties of squash are low in calories. A half-cup of cooked soft-shelled squash contains about 15 calories. The same amount of hard-shelled squash, banana and Hubbard, boiled and mashed contains 38 calories.

In general the soft-shelled varieties are good sources of vitamin C and the hard-shelled ones excellent for their vitamin A content. Both are very low in sodium.

Here's just one way to use that eggplant.

Baked Eggplant
1 medium (1 pound) fresh eggplant
Olive oil
1 cup small fresh onion rings
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper

1 teaspoon salt
6 slices prosciutto (Italian ham) or
1 1/2 cups ground left-over cooked ham or luncheon meat
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Peel eggplant and cut into crosswise slices 1/2-inch thick. Fry 5 minutes on each side in hot olive oil along with onion rings. Combine black pepper and salt. Sprinkle over eggplant and onion. Place in a 1-quart casserole. Cover with thin slices of prosciutto or 1 1/2 cups ground ham or luncheon meat. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes to brown lightly. Sprinkle with grated cheese and fresh chopped parsley. Yield: Four servings.

Food for Life Counting Calories In Nuts

By George M. Briggs, Ph.D.
Nutritionist

Surprisingly, dry roasted peanuts have as many calories per unit weight as the regular oil roasted type, such as the popular "cocktail" peanuts.

The oily appearance of regular oil roasted peanuts would have you think differently, however only insignificant traces of oil are picked up by peanuts when they are roasted. Their fat content is roughly the same as dry roasted peanuts according to a report in the August, 1973, issue of "Consumer Reports."

In the first place peanuts are high in fat — about 48 per cent — as are most nuts. Their fat content is about 1.3 polyunsaturated and 1.5 saturated.

According to the study, an ounce of dry roasted peanuts — about 35 peanuts, or 3 or 4 handfuls, provide 163 calories. The same amount of oil roasted peanuts contains 166 calories, so both types must be considered equally rich. They also both have nearly two per cent added salt — much higher than peanuts roasted in the shell.

In the Four Food Group classification of foods, (meat, milk, vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals) peanuts are a part of the meat group. They are a good source of protein. Minerals and vitamins are also aplenty, especially phosphorus, potassium and niacin. Like most other nuts, they don't contain vitamins A or C, and are low in calcium.

Peanuts are a good food for children and adults alike. However, persons who are on low-salt diets should read labels carefully since only a few unsalted peanut products are available (peanuts in the shell are often unsalted).

About the only other problem I see with either roasted peanuts or peanut butter is that since they taste so good and are about one-half fat they can easily add numerous calories to the diet. Peanut butter, for instance, has many more calories than an equal weight of cheese or meat and about 80 per cent of the calorie content of butter or margarine (about 90 calories per tablespoon). However, to most active children, or adults, who don't need to worry about excess weight, this presents no real problem.

A FLOWER-DECORATED CAKE, 10 feet around and 15 feet high and designed by Christopher Michaels' flower shop of Millbrae, graced the Serramonte Shopping Center mall last week in commemoration of the center's fifth anniversary. The cake was built on a wood frame with flowers adorning the circumference.

Rockhound Confab Set

An estimated 10,000 gem collectors and rockhounds will invade the San Mateo County fairgrounds in San Mateo next June for the 35th annual convention of the California Federation of Mineralogical Societies, Inc. Entitled "Fiesta of Gems and Minerals," the show will feature exhibits by dealers, demonstrations and a large variety of items for sale.

This is the first time the convention has been held in San Mateo County, according to James E. Jones, executive director of the San Mateo County Convention and Visitors Bureau. Local host for the convention will be the Gem and Mineral Society of San Mateo County, sponsor of the annual Gem and Mineral Show at the fairgrounds.
